CURRICULUM VITAE

Silvia was one of the first women to occupy the roles of camera assistant, camera operator and director of photography in the Italian film industry. In these roles she has worked with Stephen King, Franco Zeffereilli, Liliana Cavani, Lina Wertmuller, Giuseppe Ferrara, Michael Lehmann, Arthur Seidelman, Jeanne Yanne, Dino Risi, Robert Boris and many other renowned directors. Silvia has had a successful career in the Italian and US film and television industries making feature films, TV series and TV movies for 20th Century Fox, HBO, Dino De Laurentiis, RAI TV among others. She was an innovator in the use HD technology and more recently has directed and produced award winning documentaries.

Silvia spent her adolescence on the sets and stages of Cinecitta in the early eighties heyday of the studio, volunteering for Renzo Rossellini's Gaumont Italia on the production of Fellini's City of Women and And The Ship Sails On, Liliana Cavani's The Skin, Ettore Scola's That Night in Varennes and Andrej Tarkovsky's Nostalgia. Silvia became a Cinecitta set photographer and graduated to serving as a camera assistant in Luchino Visconti's camera team. She learned her trade from a master cinematographer of Italian neo-realism, Armando Nannuzzi, director of photography for Visconti, Pasolini, De Sica, Leone and Cavani. Silvia was awarded the Donne nell'audiovisio - Premio Afrodite (2007) for her achievement as a woman in the Italian film industry.

Building on her roots in the Italian cinema and her solid industrial experience, Silvia has embraced new technology, her award winning short movie Surface 2004, produced to promote Panasonic's HD technology was in competition for a Golden Globe, and her expertise and practice spans digital/HD and celluloid.

As a director, Silvia's documentaries have won a Babel TV Sky award (2010) and have twice been in competition for David di Donatello awards (2006-2008) and in competition for Golden Globe by Foreign Press (2004-2006).

Silvia is multi-lingual and divides her time between London and Rome.
